Q2

What are the goals and objectives of your project?

The goal of the project is to make the library more accessible to patrons that are differently abled.

Q3

How will this project change the library building?

The project will make the library ADA compliant. The sink in the patron bathroom will be wheelchair accessible. We will be replacing a "bump" between the hallway and main library space to allow easier access into the library. We also plan to replace the existing circulation desk with one that is ADA compliant.

Q4

How will this project benefit your patrons?

Partons who have difficulty walking or that are wheelchair bound will have easier and greater access to the library.

Q5

What is the timeline for the project?

6-12 months

Q6

EVALUATION: What tools will you use to evaluate the program quantitatively (i.e. statistics)? What tools will you use to measure the program's success qualitatively?

We will continue to track patron statistics, and we will use a patron survey for feedback.

Summary of Patron Walk through for Construction Grant

Walk through was completed by Patrice Jarvis-Weber.

I asked Patrice to complete the walk through because she is wheelchair bound, and I wanted her perspective on how to make the library more accessible.

Patrice complimented us on our floors and how easy they are to roll across, however the bump between the hallway and the main ramp is difficult to get over.

Patrice described the library as beautiful and welcoming, especially our view from our backyard.

Patrice found the variety of seating pleasing, especially in the young adult area.

Patrice had no difficulty pulling up to a public computer, but the sink in the patron bathroom was challenging because of the pole in front. Petrice also pointed out that the circulation desk was a bit high and awkward for her to reach.

Patrice noted that our library is conveniently located in the middle of town and close to other needed services. The bank, the pharmacy, grocery store and post office are all within walking distance.

Patrice commented that the staff were very friendly and helpful.
